February 20, 2021

My Sisters and Brothers,

We thank you for attending this virtual Harambee Awards event themed: Women on the Frontline: Embracing Change. For 16 years we have hosted an Awards Luncheon in February to honor Black History Month. However, this year, faced with the challenges of COVID19, CAS members worked diligently to organize the 17th Harambee Awards virtual event. We are honored to celebrate 3 women for the overwhelming impact they make in the Raleigh community – Faith Bynum (Local Entrepreneur/Community Supporter); Dr. Donna E. Corbett (Youth Development Advocate); and Dr. Tammie Moore (Medical Champion).

On behalf of every member of CAS, we extend heartfelt love and appreciation to our “Sister-President” Dr. Johnnetta B. Cole, National President of NCNW, for taking time from her busy schedule to be the keynote speaker of this event. We thank Les Long, our featured entertainer for answering our call, and Rev. Micah Thomas for producing this event. We thank our sisters from the 10 North Carolina NCNW Sections, and collegiate sisters from Shaw University and St. Augustine’s University for their continued support to Harambee. Also, we thank every sponsor, donor, vendor, ad contributor, patron, and Community Affiliate for their support.

Additionally, we thank each of you for supporting the mission of NCNW. Your participation is a testament of uplifting the legacy of our founder, Dr. Mary McLeod Bethune and preserving her vision of a better life for women, their children and communities. May we keep this legacy burning in our hearts forever.

Sisterly,

February 20, 2021

Dear Attendees,

We are delighted to present to you our 17th Annual Harambee and Women of Excellence Award program. Because of the pandemic, we had to reimagine the event as a virtual session while continuing to maintain a wonderful experience for our guests.

Year 2020 was unprecedented with challenges in so many ways; from social injustice, record unemployment followed by greater food insecurities to mental health crisis. The pandemic continues to have a ripple effect and impact on the African American community which has made our outreach goals to uplift our community more important as ever. Our frontline workers have been stretched and they have made personal sacrifices in the name of helping others. This year, we salute “Women on the Frontline: Embracing Change” for all of their dedication and hard work.

As the Chair of this year’s Harambee Awards Program, I have had the pleasure of working with an awesome team of women dedicated to the mission of the Capital Area Section of the National Council of Negro Women (CAS NCNW). I would like to give special thanks to the Harambee Planning Committee and members of the CAS NCNW for their commitment to the vision and the diligence to make our outreach program and this year’s awards program a reality.

To our attendees, I would like to thank you for your continued support and generosity as we put our hands and feet to work as one, to fulfill the goal of assisting our community and advancing the growth of African American women for the greater good of today and the days that lie ahead.

Sincerely,

Shiretta A. Shaw-Wiggins

Queen Degraphenreid – President North Carolina State Coalition - NCNW

Unaware of the total calling on her life, in 1963 Queen enrolled in Allen University, an AME institution, at a pivotal time in history – the middle of the Civil Rights Movement, the same year of the 1963 March on Washington. God does not give one a vision without a provision. The South Carolina NAACP Office was located directly across the street from Allen University, and would become her “afterschool”, under the tutelage of its president, the Rev. I. D. Quincy Newman. Their relationship was classic as the biblical story of Moses and Joshua; and like Joshua, she would “stay the course”, learning the voting and civil rights movement to lead and empower her people. She was well pleased with the 2020 voter turnout.

For her diligence, she was inducted as “An Invisible Giant of the Voting Rights Movement” into the National Voting Rights Institute and Museum in Selma, Alabama in 1995, commemorating the 30th Anniversary of the 1965 Voting Rights Amendment (VRA). To date, she has achieved over 57 years in the voter rights movement in four (4) states. Notable accolades include both the “Dr. John Hope Franklin Humanitarian Award” and the “Dr. Dorothy I. Height Humanitarian Award”.

Like 1963, 1995 would become another pivotal year. The same year of the induction into the National Voting Right Museum, Queen became the Founding President of the Fayetteville Area Section of the National Council of Negro Women, and which was chartered in 1996 with 114 men and women new members. During this season, she is celebrating both 25th anniversaries. With the encouragement and support of Dr. Dorothy Height, Queen would further become the Organizer of both the Fayetteville Area Youth Section and the Fayetteville State University Collegiate Section. All three (3) sections have maintained their active status with our NCNW Membership Department.

A Life Member of NCNW, Queen’s extensive leadership and membership extends over 40 years, and expands three states (Ohio, South Carolina and North Carolina). In addition to serving as the Chartering President of the Fayetteville Area Section, she would serve as FAS President four (4) terms, including the current term. Of equal importance, she is serving her fifth term as President of the North Carolina –National Council of Negro Women, Inc. Her NCNW national leadership experience includes serving on the Nominating and Elections Committees for NCNW National Convention for a total of eight (8) years.

She often says that she is channeling the life of Dr. Mary McLeod Bethune. They were both born into large share-cropping families in SC; they both walked 5 miles (both ways) to rural small church schools; they both attended Black church-affiliated colleges; they both became voting rights activists, developed and directed programs for Black youth, members of Delta Sigma Theta Sorority, Inc.; and leaders in multiple women organizations, but cultivated a passion – the National Council of Negro Women, Inc. And, like Dr. Bethune, Queen would like to leave a legacy of service.

NATIONAL COUNCIL OF NEGRO WOMEN, INC. (NCNW)

National History

The National Council of Negro Women, Inc. is a council of national African American women's organization and community-based sections. NCNW was founded in 1935 by Mary McLeod Bethune (1875-1955) who called together 28 national women leaders to form "an organization of organizations – a council." The "council" would represent the concerns of Black women, bring organizations together, and give Black women the opportunity to realize their goals for social justice and human rights through united, constructive action. Today the mission of NCNW is to lead, develop and advocate for women of African descent as they support their families and communities. NCNW fulfills this purpose through research, advocacy, and national and community-based services and program on issues of health, education, and economic empowerment.

CAPITAL AREA SECTION OF NORTH CAROLINA

"Coming Together Is A Beginning, Keeping Together Is Progress, Working Together Is Success" is the motto of the National Council of Negro Women (NCNW) – Capital Area Section (CAS). This motto was the motivation for the vision of founders Christine B. Jones and Frances B. Grant who, in February 1997, established CAS.

Two years later, due to the unrelenting determination and strong leadership of founding members, the Capital Area Section was established. On April 24, 1999, a candlelight charter ceremony was held at Shaw University with 68 members in attendance.

Throughout the years, the CAS has been blessed with many talented, dedicated and committed members who strongly embrace the needs of the community and work to advance the growth of African American women. This has been accomplished through committees and programs, such as Women's Center, Men's Shelter, Loaves and Fishes, Salvation Army, Raleigh Rescue Mission and other national and local service projects.

The Capital Area Section is honored to have sponsored the charter of Shaw University and Saint Augustine's University Collegiate Sections in Raleigh, NC.

OUR PLEDGE

It is our pledge to make a lasting contribution to all that is finest and best in America, to cherish and enrich her heritage of freedom and progress by working for the integration of all her people regardless of race, creed or national origin, into her spiritual, social, cultural, civic and economic life and thus, aid her to achieve the glorious destiny of a true and unfettered democracy.

Dr. Donna E. Corbett

Nearly two decades ago, Dr. Donna Corbett stepped out on faith, leaving the corporate persona she had established and used her expertise in business, training and modeling to establish Amazing Grace Etiquette. Amazing Grace Etiquette's mission is to provide innovative etiquette education and image and social development instruction to all populations seeking resources to change their lives.

In the twenty-first century, it would normally appear that etiquette is often forgotten and ignored. However, Dr. Corbett has transformed the mindset of children, parents, law enforcement, community-based organizations, colleges, universities, and businesses; broadening the positive influence of etiquette education in the social development of thousands of youth and adults.

As the Executive Director, curriculum developer and lead instructor, she works relentlessly to provide instruction on etiquette and manners, respect, image, communication, anti-bullying, and anger management whereas "girls become ladies and boys become gentlemen." Proudly for the past 16 years, Amazing Grace Etiquette has held yearly Prince and Princess Holiday Tea Party Extravaganzas.

Born in Alamance County, North Carolina, in a community and at a time when African American women were not expected to excel as entrepreneurs, Dr. Corbett overcame that stereotype with her parents' unwavering support. To honor their legacies of promoting excellence through community service, she established the Mary E. Corbett Scholarship Foundation and the B.F. Corbett Leadership Academy. These programs broaden opportunities for youth and community leadership, including the Young Men of Excellence Scholarship Program, the Mary E. Corbett Lady of Etiquette Award, the B.F. Corbett Man of the Year Award, Amazing Grace Etiquette's Small Business of the Year and Entrepreneur of Excellence Awards.

In December 2020, Dr. Corbett published My Little Princess Book of Etiquette, in memory of her mother who died in June. This book mirrors the lessons and values her mother lovingly instilled in her. For the past 10 years, Dr. Corbett has built a solid relationship with the Raleigh Police Department and has received local and state recognition for a Summer Charm School program for at-risk teenage girls.

As an instructor with Wake Technical Community College, she has had the honor to teach hundreds of incarcerated men and women professional and life skills: such as career readiness, success keys, employability skills, anger management, small business management, and professional business etiquette as they transition from prison to society.

In recognition of her selflessness and ingenuity, she has been recognized with over 20 communities, state and regional awards and honors. Dr. Corbett shares her success with a life full of friends and a devoted Board of Directors who share her passion for empowering youth through etiquette instruction.

Dr. Corbett enjoys interior decorating, image consulting, public speaking and motivating and inspiring others to be the best of the best! She is a faithful member of Kimes Chapel Baptist Church in Mebane, NC.

Dr. Tammie Moore

Dr. Tammie Moore is a licensed clinical psychologist & North Carolina Board Certified Health Services Provider. She is the Founder and CEO of Western Wake Counseling & Psychological Services, PLLC in Cary. Professionally, in her psychology private practice, she treats individuals, couples, and families helping them to clarify their feelings, develop goals, and to create a plan of action to achieve those goals.

Dr. Moore, a Louisiana native, moved to Cary 18 years ago from Chicago. She earned a Bachelors degree from Louisiana State University, a Masters degree from Xavier University in New Orleans, and a Doctorate in Counseling Psychology from Loyola University Chicago. She completed her psychology internship at Duke University. She also served as a Clinical Faculty member in the School Counseling graduate program at UNC-Chapel Hill for over ten years.

She is very passionate about her professional and personal endeavors. She and her husband Jeff have been married for 30 years. They have four children, a son-in-law, and a 2-year-old grandson. Dr. Moore is very active in the local community. She is a charter member the Western Wake Alumnae Chapter of Delta Sigma Theta Sorority, Incorporated, an executive board member of Easter Seals of North Carolina and Virginia, and she serves on various committees with the Triangle Chapter of the MS (Multiple Sclerosis) Society. She is also member of Saint Paul AME Church.

Les Long

Les Long, is family comedy and he understands that every valuable lesson can be served with a healthy side of laughter! A lifelong jokester and story teller, he was destined to be a performer from the first time as a child. He had the ladies laughing in his mother's beauty salon. His unique brand of clean comedy, embodies the strong morals that he lives by. He turns the rib-splitting stories of his own life into comedic gold. This native of Louisburg, North Carolina has turned his natural gift of gab into a hilarious and unpredictable style of comedy.

Best known for his act "Raggedy Christian ", Les' stand-up routine has graced the stage at hundreds of colleges, conventions, conferences, and churches across the country. This insightful routine is about Church Folk who eat and breathe Christianity but don't always live by it. Their faith may be strong, but their practice is, well... a bit raggedy.

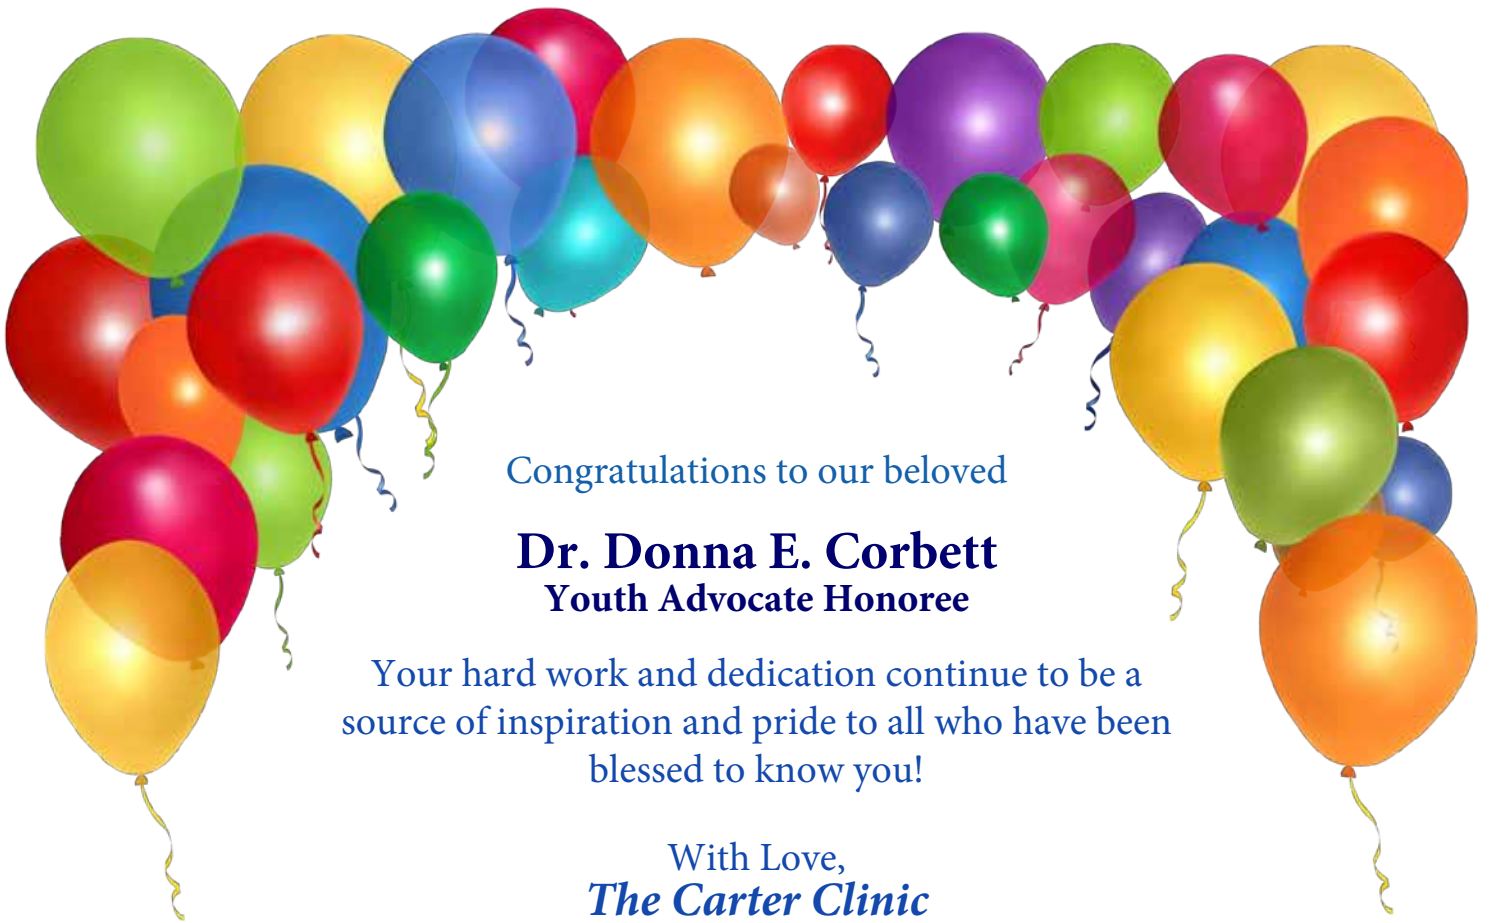

The self-proclaimed "country comedian "has shared the stage with Charlie Wilson, Patti LaBelle, Mary J Blige, Frankie Beverly & Maze, Steve Harvey, Marvin Sapp, J Anthony Brown, Fred Hammond, Keith Sweat, Fantasia and many more. This clean comedians message does more than tickle funny bones; it enlightens. Les Long is family comedy and his future is bright.

Francis Carter-Lee (1874-1968)

My father's maternal grandmother, and my great-grandmother, Frances Carter, was born in 1874, in rural Copiah County, Mississippi, somewhere 'twixt the towns of Crystal Springs and Hazelhurst. Born only nine years after the end of the Civil War, and 11 years after the Emancipation Proclamation, I don't know for sure, but feel fairly certain that at least one of her parents had been a slave. Frances, at the tender age of 15, married an equally tender-aged young man, 17 year old, James Lee. My great-grandfather. On February 14, 1890, they were blessed with their first child, a girl, whom they named Atha. At the time, they were 18 and 16 year-old parents, just beyond the edge of the Reconstruction, and with the harsh restrictions of Jim Crow rules settling in. As sharecroppers, they stayed in Copiah County, where Atha became the oldest of their 14 children —4 daughters, 10 sons. In the early 1900's like many large sharecropping families, they were lured a bit north to the agriculturally rich Mississippi Delta in the hope of making a better life for their family. They moved up to Rolling Fork/Sharkey Co. MS and lived between there and Grace, MS, thriving and surviving in the cotton-growing, sharecropping world. James "Grandpa Jim", would pass in 1934, leaving Frances a widow. Half of the 14 siblings-7-would escape north to Chicago in the Great Migration; half would stay in the Jim Crow south. Atha, the oldest, turned 19 in 1909 and married a young carpenter from the nearby village of Mayersville, MS, named Joe Weeden, Jr. Atha and Joe were my grandparents. Great-grandmother Frances (Ma' Frances to us) lived until 1968, witnessing 94 years of life, and 5 generations of Lees. Proud to be descended from this pioneering Negro Woman!
